

Shrugal – Mathcmind AI – Results

The model was evaluated using SoccerNet embeddings for event spotting, tracking, and ReID tasks. Since full training is in progress, baseline experiments were conducted using a transformer architecture to validate feasibility. Early results show stable convergence and improving event classification performance across training epochs.

